Gentle solver,

In perverse mental defiance of the draconian travel restrictions laid upon us by our present circumstances, I find my wandering thoughts often lead me back to cherished places from my past, places that it is my fervent, if currently thwarted, desire someday to visit again.

To mitigate somewhat these regretful pangs, I have attempted in this Ænigma symbolically to satisfy my craving for revisitation. (Take note: my instructions to you on this occasion are quite simple, perhaps deceptively so!)

The grid below represents a map of all of the places a person has been over their life and to which they wish they could return. I wish you to map out a single looping path that visits every grid square exactly once and every heavily outlined region exactly twice. Pray do not allow your loop either to touch or to cross itself.

Once you have completed your peregrinations, you may move on to finding the final answer to my Ænigma. Please now walk your path, beginning in the lower-left corner and proceeding upwards. Read that square's letter and also any letter in a square where your path turns to the right. By the time you return to where you started, those letters will have revealed a clue to your final answer.

Good luck!

Ada
